

Are you a South Asian person caring for someone with dementia?

Help us improve dementia services for Urdu speakers!

You would:

- Take part in 1 or 2 interviews.
- The interview(s) can be in Urdu or English.
- Each interview will be 1 hour.
- The interview(s) can be in person, on the telephone, or on the computer (Zoom or Teams).
- You will be compensated for your time.

We need to speak to:

South Asian people who care for an Urdu speaker who was diagnosed with dementia at a North West memory clinic or memory service in the last 5 years.

We need to hear about experiences at the memory clinic, any problems, and what could have been better.

Hear this flyer with the code below!
#DOMEProject

Who is doing the study:

Salam! My name is Nadine Mirza and I am a PhD student at the University of Manchester interested in improving British South Asian access to memory clinics. Please contact me if you have any questions or want to take part:

SCAN ME