

Stockroom Engagement

"A 21st century, universal learning and discovery space for the people of Stockport"

As town centres across the UK struggle to recover from the decline of High Street shopping and the huge economic shock of Covid-19, Stockport is pioneering an innovative plan to increase footfall and inspire a love of learning in children and adults of all ages.

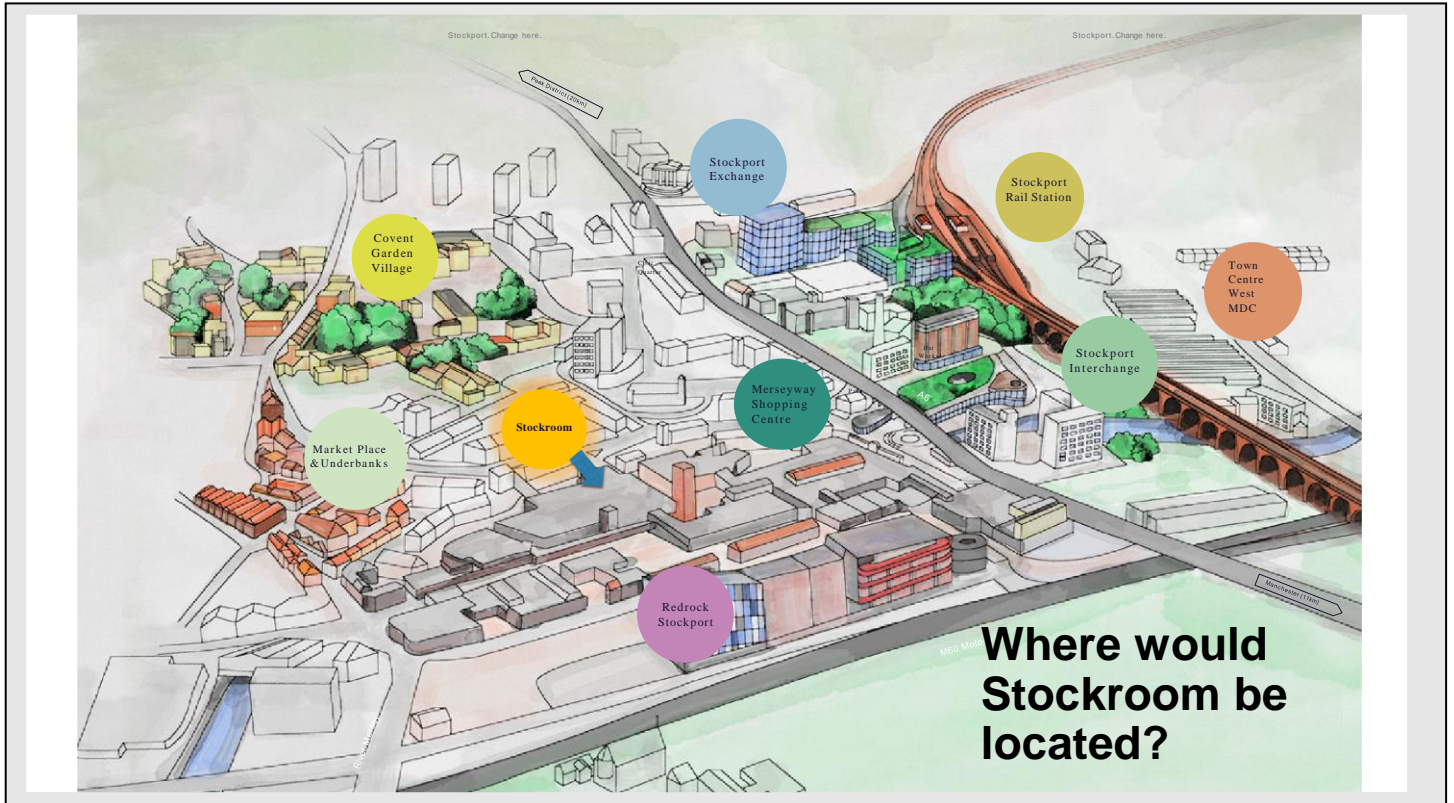

Stockport has successfully-bid for £14.5m of Government Future High Street Fund money to transform vacant retail units in the heart of our high street, Merseyway.

The Future High Street Fund bid was for Stockroom.

Stockroom - a 21st Century, universal learning and discovery space which could give the people of Stockport an opportunity to learn new skills, practice arts and crafts, enjoy live music and performances, use free services, and benefit from cutting-edge learning and IT facilities.

Stockroom would be located in the heart of Merseyway on Adlington Walk.

What inspired Stockroom?

There are strong national and international examples of the benefits of library, heritage, cultural, education and other services moving into shared locations which are easy to access. We've looked elsewhere at how this can work.

- Storyhouse in Chester has attracted more than one million visitors a year to a multi-use facility in the city centre.
- It has become a new home to 150 local groups and driven a significant increase in reading among young people.

- After creating 'The Ideas Store' a new mixed-use town centre library and cultural hub in Tower Hamlets, visitor figures increased from 550,000 to more than 2 million.

While Chester and Tower Hamlets have brought a huge increase in visitors to town centre locations, nationally, libraries have struggled with the Department for Digital, Culture, Media and Sport identifying a 17% drop in usage between 2005 and 2020.

Stockroom would inspire lifelong learning among children, young people and adults of all ages and help the borough to address the underperformance of educational attainment, particularly at 'A' Level and among children in disadvantaged areas or with special educational needs or disabilities.

In addition, there are 11,000 adults in Stockport who have real trouble reading. For them, everyday tasks such as booking a doctor's appointment, reading road signs or food shopping can be incredibly challenging.

What could Stockroom be?

➤ Stockroom - a 'learning and discovery space' which could inspire, entertain and support the people of Stockport and drive people back into the town centre, better supporting shops and businesses.

➤ Stockroom - bigger than a football pitch, filled with great stuff to discover.

➤ Stockroom – a truly inclusive space for everyone to use, fully accessible and with features designed in partnership with people with dementia and those on the autistic spectrum.

➤ Stockroom - a fantastic, convenient new arrival point for the town centre, could breathe new life into empty retail spaces in the heart of Merseyway.

➤ Stockroom - a place to celebrate the rich culture, creativity and diversity of Stockport, where the past, present and future could come together.

➤ Stockroom - a place to spend time exploring with friends and family, children and grandchildren, parents and grandparents.

➤ Stockroom – with brand new 'best in class' toilet facilities with enhanced facilities for people with a disability.

The Central Library building

If there is support to create an enhanced 21st Century library offer within Stockroom, this could result in library services being relocated from the existing Central Library building on the A6.

However a formal consultation on the relocation of library services from the existing Central Library Building would be held before any decision was made. This would include consulting people about potential alternative uses for the current Central Library building.

No decision about the future of the Central Library building or the service it provides would be made without full consultation with the people of Stockport, including those people who currently use the library.

There may also be support for relocating other Council services to Stockroom and it should also be noted that this may also mean they might be relocated from their current location

We've secured the funding.....Now we need your help to create something special!

We want to talk with you about what uses Stockroom could have and how those uses could benefit yourself individually as well as our children, young people, adults and town centre businesses.

We want Stockroom to be designed around how you would use the space. We've split the potential uses of Stockroom into four 'Zones' that we think reflect the potential for the space – 'Discovery', 'Family', 'Community', and 'Learning'.

Have a think about the type of things you might like to see in Stockroom and complete the survey. If you think of something that isn't listed, please let us know as we need your input to help us shape what Stockroom could be.

Your input can help shape the future of Stockport town centre and the prosperity of people and businesses.

Please carefully read the survey and let us have your views.

Thank you for your support!
